

Stephen Fry is an interesting person.
For all his old world feel and image, educated and well spoken, he is in fact a true technophile.

I am a huge techy, but have never bothered much with a lot of the new web services available.

However I was playing with a new RSS service I was writing and decided to look up Stephen Fry RSS feeds and got his Twitter feed.

Now I am hooked. I have to read it when ever it updates, just to know what this man is thinking at any time!

I now have my own twitter (<http://twitter.com/daverage>) and have (thanks again to Stephen Fry) decided to try out posterous.

So Mr Fry, I salute your techy ways and say thanks for a great laugh this morning when I read your Viao / Vista tirade!!
Please wait...